GALLAGHER JURYMEN DISAGREE

Fail to Arrive at Verdict After Balloting All Wednesday Night

10 TO 2 FOR CONVICTION

The Jury Disagreement was a Severe Blow to John Doyle, Father of Loretta Doyle, who Says He will Continue Fight

The jury which was empaneled to decide the case of John Gallagher of Wadsworth on the charge of attempting to kill Miss Loretta Doyle, also of Wadsworth, was out all night Wednesday night in an effort to arrive at a decision on the case. The result was that this (Thursday) morning the jury was compelled to return through disagreement. The first ballot which was taken showed three members of the jury were for freeing the defendant and the other nine for sending him to the penitentiary.

After the first ballot one man changed his mind on the case and the remainder of the ballots showed ten for conviction and two for acquittal. Ballots were taken every little while through the night, but the result stood the same. It was apparent sentiment even of those who would convict Gallagher, that he should not be sent to the penitentiary but should be given a term in the county jail. The jury was discharged Thursday morning.

The state in its closing evidence, put on testimony to show that Gallagher left the dance at Wadsworth on the night in question, considerably earlier than others at the dance, that therefore he had time to get to the spot where the shooting took place; that Gallagher had made various threats to Miss Doyle; that he had already tried to keep himself in hiding, shown by the fact that he returned to his home nights during the time he lived at Kenosha and after he had been publicly charged with the shooting.

Mr. Orvis for the defense, put Gallagher on the stand and showed through him that he had left the dance and went directly to the depot to take a train home, that he left next day for Dakota, and had returned to Kenosha openly, when he finished his business in Dakota. That if he were guilty, he never had returned after knowing that the officers were after him.

Mr. Orvis also put on a dozen or more witnesses to show that Gallagher's character had always been good. Gallagher proved quite composed on the stand and insisted that he was entirely innocent of the crime.

The defense showed that the course of the bullets in the buggy showed that whoever fired the shots held the pistol quite low, evidently shooting with the intent to scare rather than to injure.

At two o'clock the attorneys finished their evidence and took an hour each for argument. Mr. Dady led for the state and sought to show the jury that everything tended to prove that Gallagher was the one who did the shooting and therefore should be found guilty.

Mr. Orvis insisted that Gallagher was not near the spot where the shot was fired that he had not sought to hide himself and that he should be found not guilty.

It is stated that John Doyle of Wadsworth, the father of the girl, will see that the case is carried through to the limit. The disagreement of the jury was a heavy blow to the father, who hoped to see the assailant of his daughter sent to Joliet for a long term of years.

He asserts that when the case came up again he did not think that the jury would disagree, and if it did he would try to keep the case on the docket until Gallagher was either sent to Joliet or freed.

JOHN COLEGROVE DEAD

Suddenly Expires at his Home Friday Morning, East of Antioch

The friends and relatives of John Colegrove were much surprised and shocked when at about ten o'clock Friday forenoon, November 18, word was received here that he had suddenly expired at his home east of town.

Mr. Colegrove had been suffering from a chronic case of Bright's Disease but at no time had he been confined to his home with it. A few days ago he was confined to the house with what threatened to be a case of pneumonia. However the pneumonia did not develop and he was thought to be getting along nicely until his old trouble set in and on Thursday night he grew worse but not to the extent to cause alarm. Friday morning he grew much worse quite suddenly and passed away at half past nine o'clock just a few moments after the physician who was called had entered the house.

The deceased was about sixty years of age and is survived by his wife and two children one son Eugene of this place and one daughter Mrs. Bert Dunmill of Fox Lake, besides brothers, sisters and other relatives.

No funeral arrangements have as yet been made.

JAS. O'HARE OF BRISTOL DIED THURSDAY

On Thursday of last week at the home of his daughter Mrs. Jas. Rogan occurred the death of one of the oldest and best known residents in the vicinity of Bristol, Mr. Jas. O'Hare, the cause of his death being paralysis. For some time past he had been in failing health but was confined to his bed for only about a week.

The deceased was born February 12, 1837 and was seventy-three years of age at the time of his death. He had resided in the vicinity of Bristol for the past forty-three years and commanded the highest respect of all with whom he associated.

His wife preceded him to the land of rest six years ago and two of his children have also passed away. He is survived by three children, one daughter, Mrs. Jas. Rogan with whom he lived, and two sons, William of New Orleans, La., and Eugene of Colorado, besides many other relatives and friends.

The funeral was held on Saturday at the Mill Creek church with the burial in the Mill Creek cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our most sincere thanks to our neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness during the sickness and death of our father.

ENGINEER SUCCUMBS IN ENGINE CAB

Found dead at his post of duty was the fate of George D. Mack, an old time engineer on the Soo Line, formerly the Wisconsin Central, on Saturday evening of last week.

Mack was engineer on number 3, the fast train that passes through here, northbound at 8:10 p. m. As the train neared Wheatland, a small station between Silverlake and Burlington at the rate of about fifty miles an hour, the fireman noticing that the whistle did not sound glanced at his companion and was horrified to see his comrad lying with part of his body on the floor and his right hand clutching the throttle.

He called to Mack and receiving no response, gently shook him, still there was no answer. Realizing the danger to the many passengers on the train the fireman shut off the power and brought the train to a stop. An investigation showed that the engineer was dead, apoplexy being the cause. One of the brakemen volunteered to run the train to its destination and after a short delay the trip was resumed.

Mack was about sixty years of age and had been on the road for the past twenty years. His home was at Fond du Lac, Wis.

MEETS TRAGIC DEATH

Lake Forest Man Jumps From Fast Train at Lake Bluff and is Killed

BODY TERRIBLY MANGLED

James Gannon, Carpenter's Union President, in Order to Meet Wife, Jumps From Fast Train

James Gannon, forty years of age and a carpenter of Lake Forest, met death at Lake Bluff at 11 o'clock Saturday night by jumping from a fast train on the Northwestern.

Gannon had spent the day in Chicago and was on his way to Lake Bluff to meet his wife, who had been attending a party at Lake Bluff. He took the 10:30 train out of Chicago, which makes no stops between Chicago and Waukegan. It was his plan to jump from the train while it was slowing up for the curve and switch at Lake Bluff. The train comes from Chicago by way of the cut-off through Mayfair and Niles Center, and strikes the main track at Lake Bluff.

In order to make the curve, the train slows up slightly, and in many cases stops entirely as the flag is against it many times. Gannon evidently expected to drop from the train at Lake Bluff, meet his wife there, and return to Lake Forest on the street car.

In the same car with Gannon was Milton Krause of Waukegan, and he saw Gannon leave his seat and go out onto the platform. Gannon stopped there a moment and then stooped and lifted up the platform under the door, opened the door and stepped out into the darkness.

Men in the car heard a shriek and a sound of a fall and then the train was stopped. The trainmen, going back to the scene of the accident, found that Gannon in dropping from the train had struck the concrete culvert and had rolled under the wheels of the train. The body was mangled until there was little semblance of human form.

His wife was notified and she hurried to the scene. When she arrived and found that her husband, who was to meet her, was dead, she was prostrated with grief and required the attendance of a physician.

It is thought that Gannon, in order to get aboard the train, had purchased a ticket for Waukegan, intending to drop off the train at Lake Bluff. At the gates in Chicago all passengers are required to show their tickets, and all who have not tickets for places at which the train stops are refused entrance.

If Gannon got aboard the train he would be all right, as the conductor will not come through the car to take up tickets until the train is nearly to North Chicago.

Gannon is survived by a wife and six children. He was a carpenter by trade and was president of Lake Forest union at the time of his death.

PROMINENT COUPLE WEDDED

Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock at St. Peter's rectory was solemnized the marriage of Miss Hattie J. Schilke and Mr. Claud T. Brogan, Rev. Father Lynch performing the ceremony in the presence of only a few immediate relatives, with Miss Mary Schilke, sister of the bride and Mr. Joseph Hoyer acting as bridesmaid and groomsmen.

After the wedding ceremony the young couple made a clever get away and escaped the customary shower of rice by leaving on the 4:41 train for a short wedding trip to Michigan City, Ind.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Schilke and the groom one of Antioch's young business men is the eldest son of Mrs. T. Brogan of this village and both are prominent young people who have a wide circle of friends in Antioch and vicinity.

Before their departure the young couple had prepared their future home and upon their return will take up their residence in the Jas. French house on Main street.

The News joins with their many friends in extending to Mr. and Mrs. Brogan most hearty congratulations.

DROP CULVER CASE

Charles Culver Demands Immediate Trial and State Nolle Prosses Action

ATTORNEY FIELD PROTESTS

The Sudden Termination of This Sensational Case Comes as a Great Surprise to Many

The case against Charles E. Culver, former agent for the E. J. & E. in Waukegan, charged by the grand jury with embezzlement of the 'J' funds in connection with Joe Connor, who was also indicted, was this morning nolle prossed by State's Attorney Dady after Culver had appeared in court and demanded that he be given a trial at once.

The case against Culver, which created a sensation when it was returned to the grand jury is thus dropped and while the state could, if it wished, start another before the next grand jury, it is likely it will not do so but will let the matter drop, for, if the state had evidence on which it felt a conviction could be obtained, it would have proceeded at this time with the trial.

Attorney George Field, with Culver, appeared before Judge Wright and demanded for the second time that his trial be held at this term of court. The state's attorney at once arose when he saw their demand was insistent and said he would nolle prosses the case. Mr. Field protested, saying that his client wished the case to go to trial and that he resented the stigma which a nolle prosses of the case would leave. He felt he was either guilty or not guilty and therefore the nolle prosses proceedings to see what the state had against him and to prove his innocence.

State's Attorney Dady, however, had the privilege of nolle prossesing the case and he insisted on doing so. However, the judge made it of record that Culver wished a trial and that he protested against the nolle prosses action.

The disposition of this sensational case came as a surprise to people who felt it would come to trial.

Culver, it is recalled, was agent at the 'J' when Connor's was cashier and following Connor's disappearance, he remained here some time. Connor kept saying that somebody higher up than he had a lever on him and made him steal funds and Culver was suspected with being the man he meant. Then, at the last grand jury, the jury returned a bill of embezzlement against Culver and the public felt that the 'J' had found something to fasten upon him.

Culver all along said he would prove his innocence and it was felt by his friends that the railroad merely tried to get him into the court in hopes that he might "squel" on Connor. However, nothing came of it, Culver retained an attorney and has been ready for trial, and not have the case merely stricken off in a way that left a stain.

LIGHTING SYSTEM INVESTIGATED BY VISITING ALDERMEN

Members of the light and lamps committee of the city council of Waukegan together with the officials of the North Shore Electric company made an auto trip to Libertyville and Antioch Monday night for the purpose of inspecting the lights which the company has installed in these two villages. The committee consisted of Mayor Buck and a number of the aldermen. With the officials they left the city at 6:30 o'clock three auto being required to make the trip.

At Libertyville the company has installed 50 watt 40 candle power tungsten incandescent series and at Antioch they have installed 75 watt 60 candle power. The members of the Waukegan committee were desirous of inspecting the system here with a view to making a change in the lighting system of their home city.

Upon reaching Antioch the committee was tendered a banquet at the Simons House by the company officials.

She Needed a Wringer.

"Oh, yes," said Mrs. Bright, "I got home all right, but when I reached the door I found I hadn't my latchkey. I thought I should never get in, for Mr. Bright was in the bath-tub and I had to ring him out!"

SAME TRAIN KILLS TWO

One Meets Death Saturday Evening and the Other Sunday Evening.

Two men met death near Barrington one on Saturday night and the other on Sunday night in a manner so similar that the case seems without precedent.

Saturday night Oscar Maynard, fifty years of age, was walking along the railroad tracks from Palatine to Barrington and was struck by a fast train just a short distance from Barrington. Maynard had been to Palatine all day visiting in the saloons there until, witnesses claim that he was in a state of intoxication. He missed the last train home from Palatine and so started to walk up the track. The fast train which is due in Barrington at 10:50 struck him full in the back, crushing out his life. The accident happened directly on the boundary line between Cook and Lake counties, and two inquests were necessary. One was held in Cook county Sunday and returned a verdict of accidental death, with no blame attached to the railroad. The Lake county inquest was held Monday with practically the same verdict rendered. The man leaves a wife and seven children. There is considerable mystery about Maynard although he seemed to be a sort of a vagrant, seldom working and a hard drinker there was an air of refinement about him that years of dissipation could not cover. He was at one time prominent in social circles in New York, and at the time was proprietor of a large book concern in that city.

The next (Sunday) night Mathew Gallagher was killed at Barrington by the same train. He too had been to Palatine and was returning to his home at Barrington. When the train arrived at the station Gallagher stepped off and started down the track toward home, ahead of the train. When the train started he attempted to step off the track but evidently had miscalculated the distance, and was struck squarely from behind. He was dead when picked up.

MRS. DURAND SELLS STOCK FOR $10,000

Mrs. Scott S. Durand, owner of the Crab Tree Dairy Farm at Lake Bluff, sold all her stock at auction Saturday, retaining only her riding mare, Kate. The sale, which was attended by about 1,000 persons, many of them from other states, netted her over $10,000. It was a result of the fire which on Nov. 3 destroyed the barns, dairy buildings, and the garage of Mrs. Durand's model farm, entailing loss of about $150,000, and leaving the stock without shelter.

The stock sold included 100 cows and heifers of fancy breed, 10 horses, 100 hogs, and 300 chickens, all of which had been raised on the Durand farm.

Following the sale Mrs. Durand announced that work would be started immediately on new barns and dairy buildings. These will be of concrete and fireproof. They will be finished some time in February, and then Mrs. Durand will go to the the Isle of Guensey, off the coast of England, where she will purchase several carloads of Guensey cows. These she will ship back to her farm and she expects to have her dairy in operation again in June.

With the exception of three cows which she called her "pets" on which she placed an arbitrary price of $100 a head, Mrs. Durand's cows and heifers brought an average of $80 each.

ZION COUPLE FIND BABE ON DOOR STEP

A visit of Mrs. James A. Nuttle of Zion City to her sister in Waukegan one day last week, was indefinitely postponed on account of the occurrence of an important incident in the Nuttle household.

Mrs. Nuttle and her husband who is a mailman in Zion, were on Wednesday evening returning from the business portion of the city and as they neared their door they noticed a peculiar looking package on their steps. Upon taking it into the house and unwrapping it, it was found to contain a tiny baby girl apparently about two months old but weighing only seven pounds.

The kind hearted people who have no children of their own took in the tiny waif and now claim that they will keep it. Mrs. Nuttle claims that she has found out the history of the babe and that its parents are too poor to care for it, but declines to give out any facts.

A ZIONITE DIES FROM DIPHTHERIA

Mrs. Sparks of Zion City Dies After Anti-Toxin Was Administered

EXPRESSES A WISH TO DIE

After Learning That Doctor Had Been in House, Mrs. Sparks Said She Did not Want to Live

Zion City beliefs claimed another victim late Saturday night when Mrs. Sparks of that city died as a result of an attack of diphtheria from which several members of the family have been ill.

This is the women over whom so much complaint was made some time ago from the fact that little or no medical attention was given the members of the family for the disease. Prayer meetings were employed to ward off the evil spirits which were supposed to have caused the disease, but the administration of anti-toxin was denied until Thursday, when the husband, who is not a believer in any of the many religions of Zion, took a doctor from this city down. While the woman was delirious from the disease the anti-toxin was administered, but it was then too late for the medicine to work and the woman died.

Mrs. Sparks had been ill for about three weeks. Refusing medical attention which her husband offered to get of her particular cult, and, according to the stories of the neighbors, the men and woman wept and prayed over the stricken woman until for into the night.

Thursday Mr. Sparks who is employed at naval station, took matters into his own hands and called a doctor from Waukegan. As soon as the doctor arrived it was evident that it was too late for the antitoxin to do its work, but upon the solicitations of the husband it was given. Saturday night Mrs. Sparks died, and now the members of the cult claim that it was the administration of the anti-toxin which killed the woman.

If the matter had been left in the hands of Providence, they claim the woman would have lived. It was "the punishment of the husband" in calling in a "Medical devil" as they call the doctors, that killed the woman.

Besides the husband Mrs. Sparks leaves three small children.

As soon as Mrs. Sparks recovered from the stupor after the anti-toxin was given and learned that medicine had been given her, she is claimed to have said: "I have now no more desire to live. I never thought that my husband would call in a medical devil, but now that he has and I have taken the medicine God has put me off from his kingdom and I want to die." One of the women who wept over the woman when she was ill is now threatened with the disease and has been put in quarantine.

JOSEPH WESTLAKE AND CLARA FOWLES MARRIED IN CHICAGO

On Monday of this week in Chicago occurred the wedding of Mr. Joseph Westlake and Miss Clara A. Fowles, both of Antioch.

Mr. Westlake is a well known and prominent resident of this place and the bride, a sister of Mrs. William Verrier, has been a resident here every since coming from England to America a little over a year ago, and both have many friends here who wish them an abundance of happiness and joy in their wedded life. Mr. and Mrs. Westlake will make their future home in the house owned by the groom on Lake street, which he has refurbished and prepared for the reception of his bride.

On Tuesday evening they were visited by about forty of their friends who gathered at their home to give them an old fashioned charivari.

The Courage of Captain Plum

SYNOPSIS.

Capt. Nathaniel Plum of the sloop Typhoon, lands secretly on Beaver Island, stronghold of the Mormons. Obadiah Price, Mormon counselor, confronts him, tells him he is expected, and bargains for the ammunition aboard the sloop. He binds Nat by a solemn oath to deliver a package to Franklin Pierce, president of the United States. Near Price's cabin Nat sees the frightened face of a young woman who disappears in the darkness, leaving an odor of lilacs. It develops that Nat's visit to the island is to demand settlement of the king, Strang, for the looting of his sloop by Mormons. Price shows Nat the king's palace, and through a window he sees the lady of the lilacs, who Price says is the king's seventh wife. Calling at the king's office Nat is warned by a young woman that his life is in danger. Strang professes indignation when he hears Nat's grievance, and promises to punish the guilty. Nat rescues Nell, who is being publicly whipped, and the king orders the sheriff, Arbor Croche, to pursue and kill the two men. Plum learns that the sloop is gone. Nathaniel tells him that his ship has been seized by the Mormons. She begs him to leave the island, telling him that nothing can save her from Strang, whom she is doomed to marry. Plum finds Price raving mad. Recovering, he tells Nat that Strang is doomed, that armed men are descending on the island.

"Strang—the king!" cried the old man, clutching the knob of his cane with both hands. "She has gone!"

"Gone!" exclaimed Nathaniel. For an instant his heart bounded with delight. Marlon was on her way to the tyrant! He sprang back to the door. "When? When did she go?"

The woman had come forward, her hands trembling, her lips quivering. Something in the terror of her face sent the hot blood from Nathaniel's cheeks.

"They sent for her an hour ago," she said. "The king sent Obadiah Price for her! O, my God!" she shrieked suddenly, clutching at her breast. "Tell me—what are they doing with Marlon?"

"Shut up!" snarled the old man. "That's Strang's business. She has gone to Strang." With an effort he straightened himself until his towering form rose half a head above Nathaniel. "She has gone to the king," he repeated. "Tell Strang that she will live him tonight, as she has promised!"

In spite of his effort to control himself a terrible cry burst from Nathaniel's lips. He flung open the door and stood for an instant with his white face turned back.

"She went to the castle—an hour ago?" he cried.

"Yes, to the castle—with Obadiah Price."

The last words followed him as he sped out into the night. As swiftly as a wolf he raced across the clearing to the trail that led down to St. James. Something seemed to have burst in his brain; something that was not blood, but fire, seemed to burn in his veins—a mad desire to reach Strang, to grip him by the throat, to mete out to him the vengeance of a fiend instead of that of a man. He was too late to save Marlon! His brain reeled with the thought. Too late—too late—too late. He panted the words. They came with every gasp for breath. Too late! Too late! His heart pumped like an engine as he strained to keep up his speed. He passed a man and a boy hurrying with their rifles to St. James and made no answer to their shout; a galloping horse forged ahead of him and he tried to keep up with it; and then, at the top of the long hill that sloped down to the stronghold of the Mormon kingdom something seemed to sweep his legs from under him, and he fell panting on the ground. For a few moments he lay there looking down upon the city. The great bell at the temple was now silent. He saw huge fires burning for a mile along the coast, hundreds of lights were twinkling in the harbor, there came up to him softly, subdued by distance, the sound of commotion and excitement far below.

His eyes rested on the beacon above the prophet's home, burning like a ball of fire over the black canopy of tree tops. Marlon was there! He rose to his feet again and went on, reason and judgment returning to him—telling him that he was about to play against odds; that his work was to be one of strength and generalship and not of madness. As he picked his way more slowly and cautiously down the slope a new hope flashed upon him. Was it possible that the discovery of the approach of the mainlanders had served to save Marlon? In the excitement that followed the calling of the Mormons to arms and the preparations for the defense would Strang, the master of the kingdom, the bulwark of his people, waste priceless time in carrying out the purpose for which he had sent for Marlon? Hardly did hope burn anew in his breast when there came another thought to quench it. Why had the king sent for Marlon on this particular night and at this late hour? Why, unless at the approach of his enemies he had feared that he might lose his beautiful victim, and in his overmastering passion had called her to him even as his people assembled in defense of his kingdom.

There was desperate coolness in Nathaniel's approach now. Whatever had happened he would do what Nell had threatened to do—kill Strang. And whatever had happened he would take Marlon away with him if it was only her dead body that he carried in his arms. To do these things he needed strength. He advanced more slowly and drew deeper and deeper drafts of air into his exhausted lungs. At the edge of the grove surrounding the castle he paused to listen. For the first time it occurred to Nathaniel that the prophet might have assembled some of his fighters to the defense of his harem, which he knew would be one of the first places to feel the vengeance of the outraged men of the mainland. But he heard no voices ahead of him. There were no fires to betray the approach of the enemy. Not even the barking of a dog gave warning of his stealthy advance. Soon he could make out a light in the king's house. A few steps more and he saw that the door was open, as it had been on his first visit to the castle. He dodged swiftly from bush to bush, darted under the window through which he had seen Marlon, leaped lightly up the broad steps and sprang into the great room, his pistol cocked in his hand.

The room was empty. He listened, but not a sound came to his ears except the rustling of a curtain in the breeze. The huge lamp over the table was burning dimly. The five doors leading from the room were tightly closed. Nathaniel held his breath, tried to still the tumultuous pounding of his heart as he waited for a sound of life—a step beyond those doors, a woman's voice, a child's cry. But none came. The stillness of desertion hovered about him. He went to one of the five doors. It was not locked. He opened it silently, with the caution of a thief, and there loomed before him a chaos of gloom.

"Hello!" he called gently. "Hello—Hello—"

There was no answer. He struck a match and advanced step by step, holding the yellow bit of flame above his head. It disclosed the narrow walls of a hall and an open door leading into another room. The match sputtered and went out and he lighted another. On a little table just outside the door was a half burned candle and he replaced his match with this. Then he went in.

At a glance he knew that he had entered a woman's room, redolent with the perfume of flowers. On one side was a bed and close beside it a cradle with a child's toys scattered about it. The tumbled coverlets showed that both had been recently used. About the room were thrown articles of wearing apparel; a trunk had been dragged from a closet and was half packed; everywhere was the disorder of hurried flight. For a few moments the depth of his despair held Nathaniel motionless. The castle was deserted—Marlon was gone! He ran back into the great room, no longer trying to still the sound of his footsteps, and opened a second door. The same silence greeted him, the same disorder, the same evidence that the wives and children of the Mormon king had fled. He went into a third room—and then a fourth.

For an instant he paused at the threshold of this fourth chamber. A light was burning in the room at the end of the hall. The door was closed with the exception of an inch or two. "Marlon!" he called softly, and listened intently.

He went on when there was no reply, and pushed open the door.

A candle was burning on a stand in front of a mirror. The room was as empty as the others. But there was no disorder here. The bed was unused, the garments in the open closet had not been disarranged. On the floor beside the bed was a pair of shoes and as Nathaniel saw them his heart seemed to leap to his throat and stifled the cry that was on his lips. He took one of them in his hand, his whole being throbbing with excitement. It was Marlon's shoe—incrusted with mud and torn as he had seen it in the forest. With her name falling from his lips in a pleading cry he now searched the room and on the stand in front of the mirror he found a lilac colored ribbon, soiled and crumpled. It was Marlon's ribbon—the one he had seen last in her hair, and he crushed it to his lips as he ran back into the great room, calling out her name again and again in the torture of helplessness that now possessed him.

Mechanically, rather than with reason, he went to the fifth and last door. His candle had become extinguished in his haste and after he had opened the door he stopped at the threshold of the black hall to light it again. There was a moment's pause as he searched his pockets for a match, a silence in which he listened as he searched, and suddenly as he was about to strike the sulphur tipped splint there came to his ears a sound that held him chained to the spot. It was the sobbing of a woman; or was it a child? In a moment he knew that it was a woman; and then the sobbing ceased.

There was nothing but darkness ahead of him; no ray of light shone under the door; the chamber itself was in utter gloom. As quietly as possible he relighted his candle. A glance assured him that this hall was different from the others; it was deeper, and there were two doors at the end instead of one. Through which of these doors had come the sound of sobbing he had heard?

He approached and listened. Each moment added to his excitement, his fears, his hopes, but at last he opened the door on the left. The room was empty; there was the same disorder as before; the same signs of hurried flight. It was the room on the right! His heart almost stopped its beating as he placed his hand on the latch, lifted it, and pulled the door in. Kneeling beside the bed he saw a woman. She had turned toward the light and in the dim illumination of the room Nathaniel recognized the beautiful face he had seen at the king's castle the preceding day—the face of the woman who had sent him to find the prophet, who had placed her gentle hand on Marlon's head as he had looked through the window. There was no fear in her eyes as she saw Nathaniel. Something more terrible than that shone in her glorious depths as she rose to her feet and stood before him, her face lined with grief, her mouth twitching in agony. She stood with clenched hands, her bosom rising and falling in the passion of the storm within her; and she sobbed even as Nathaniel paused there, unmanned in this sudden presence of a distress greater than his own; sobbed in a choking, tearless way, waiting for him to speak.

"Forgive me," he spoke gently. "I have come—for—Marlon." He felt that he had no reason to lie to this woman. His face betrayed his own anguish as he came nearer to her. "I want Marlon," he repeated. "My God, won't you tell me—?"

She struggled to calm herself as he spoke the girl's name.

"Marlon is not here," she said. She crushed his hands against her bosom and a softer look came into her eyes; her voice was low and sweet, as it had been the morning he asked for Strang. As she saw the despair deepening in the man's face a great pity swept over her and she stretched out her arms to him with an aching cry, "Marlon is gone—gone—gone," she moaned, "and you must go, too! O, I know you love her—she told me that you loved her, as I love Strang, my king! We have both lost—lost—and you must go—as I shall go!" She turned away from him with a cry so heart-breaking in its pain that Nathaniel felt himself trembling to the soul. In another instant she had faced him again, fighting back a strange calm into her face.

HIS OLD FATHER SATISFIED

Discouraged Young Doctor's Free Dispensary Work Opens Old Man's Eyes.

Twenty years ago a discouraged young doctor in one of our large cities was visited once by his old father, who came up from a rural district to look after his boy.

"Well, son," he said, "how are you getting along?"

"I'm not getting along at all," was the disheartened answer. "I'm not doing a thing."

The old man's countenance fell, but he spoke of courage and patience and perseverance. Later in the day he went with his son to the "free dispensary," where the young doctor had an unsalaried position, and where he spent an hour or more every day.

The father sat by, a silent but intensely interested spectator, while twenty-five poor unfortunates received help. The doctor forgot his visitor while he bent his skilled energies to his task; but hardly had the door closed on the last patient, when the old man burst forth:

"I thought you told me that you were not doing anything! Why, if I had helped twenty-five people in a month as much as you have in one morning, I would thank God that my life counted for something."

"There isn't any money in it, though," explained the son somewhat abashed.

"Money!" the old man shouted, still scornfully. "Money! What is money in comparison with being of use to your fellowmen? Never mind about money; you go right along at this work every day. I'll go back to the farm, and gladly earn money enough to support you as long as I live—yes, and sleep sound every night with the thought that I have helped you to help your fellowmen."—National Magazine.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

States Aid in Cholera Precautions

WASHINGTON.—Dr. William K. Rucker of the public health and marine hospital service, recently left Ellis Island for Boston to confer with Commissioner of Immigration George B. Billings, the port medical staff and officials of the state board of health regarding the new and comprehensive plan for guarding the United States against possible danger from cholera suspects coming from Russia and Italy. This plan contemplates a surveillance of immigrants from the infected districts to their final destination in the United States, even though it be in a remote settlement of the west. Surgeon General Walter Wyman and his officers have worked days and nights perfecting the details and now believe that with the co-operation of state and municipal health authorities which they request, a cholera epidemic in the United States would be practically impossible.

The new system, which is supplementary to the rigorous medical examinations now made provides for a registry of immigrants from Russia and Italy by the immigrant inspectors at each port on the Atlantic coast.

Ask Honest Postal Law Enforcement

ANNOUNCEMENT is made at the post office department that under instructions from Postmaster General Hitchcock the inspectors "must get the crooks." Whereupon every sleuth has put his nose to the ground and sought an opening to land those who are trying to "get something for nothing" from the people. But it is also said that "they are going after every individual or concern whose business smacks of fraud regardless of its size or the influence which may be behind it."

Several days ago there came out of the same department a story to the effect that the inspectors were informed that they were not to "go it blind" and simply make cases, but that he would have to be able to "produce the goods" so as to have reasonable grounds for convictions in court.

No honest man wants to prevent the prosecution of frauds and crooks. On the contrary, there is a strong desire that all such persons should be apprehended and punished, but there have been examples of great injustice and wrong on the part of too eager post office inspectors who wanted to make a record and devoted much time to working up cases. There are also many people who, for revenge, or other cause, seek out post office inspectors and try to secure fraud orders against persons they dislike or whose business rivalry they fear.

If fraud orders could be reviewed in the courts it would not matter so much whether legitimate concerns were attacked by over-zealous men who are told "get the crooks," and went out to make records. But there are many little frauds who advertise a business and have a little room with a deal table and one chair; reap a small harvest and make a quick getaway, who should be pursued by the men who are trying to prevent the use of mails for fraudulent purposes. There is quite a field to cover by those who are in earnest and do not feel that in order to make a name and reputation they must pull down big concerns or get "big game."

Government Clerks Were Well Scared

TREASURY clerks were thrown into a panic the other day, by the publication in a local paper of a story describing in alarming detail how Frederick A. Cleveland, the business expert, has been whizzing through the department of late, discovering inefficiency right and left and recommending discharges and salary reductions at a wholesale rate. Not only on their own account, but on that of their relatives and friends throughout the country.

As a matter of fact, the story apparently was made out of whole cloth. It has attracted attention at the White House, which has given orders that its origin be traced.

The actual work of reorganizing the treasury department is being done very slowly and quietly and without serious disturbance to any one. Six months ago the department entered into a contract with Arthur Young, who has made a thorough examination of the antique accounting system and of general business methods.

Mr. Young put eight men to work and the treasury department placed alongside of every one of them a check of its own, selected especially because of his known efficiency and enterprise. As a result the department now has in hand a staff of trained investigators of its own educated by the hired experts, whose reports to the secretary and his assistants have proved exceedingly valuable.

The treasury department hesitates to make sweeping changes in personnel until congress shall have passed some kind of civil service retirement act. Just before congress adjourned it had been planned to put through a limited retirement bill which would have enabled the department to retire several hundred aged clerks at practically a thousand dollars a year, but never reached publicity, much less congress. The government, however, recognizes more and more the need of a retirement law and the president and his cabinet are confident they could save money enough from the operation of one to pay the whole cost.

Hobble Invades Nation's High Court

THE hobble skirt, or what looked like a hobble skirt, the other day invaded the precincts of the United States Supreme court, where flowing robes are worn by the justices and where the lawyers who appear to argue cases generally wear the somber black of the bar.

Of course, hobble skirt wearers have hobbled behind the railing where the public is admitted, because among the visitors to the courtroom are women dressed in the latest styles. But not until the day mentioned a woman barrister, entitled to practise before the highest court in the land, appeared in a dress which suggested the latest fad.

The person who has precipitated all this discussion is Adeline H. Burd of New York. When she appeared in the courtroom and proceeded to take her seat within the inclosure reserved for members of the bar there was a hasty investigation. It did not seem likely that a woman lawyer who had attained the dignity of the right to practise before the Supreme court would be so swayed by feminine emotions as to don a skirt that showed tendencies toward the hobble idea. Some of the court officers, as a matter of fact, were not certain in their own minds that the hobble feature was there. That question has not yet been answered satisfactorily.

Anyway, Miss Burd was not molested. She is likely to go down in history as the first woman who by her appearance before the Supreme court proved that her sex can attain the greatest distinction in store for attorneys without putting behind it what is regarded as the feminine devotion to the dictates of fashion

THOUGHT ONLY OF THE GAME

Filibuster Affection Lost Sight Of by the Small but Enthusiastic Lover of Football.

Among the spectators at a match between the Blackburn Rovers and the Olympic was a little lad about nine years of age. Though the boy's knowledge of the game may have been limited, his notion of correct play was extremely robust.

"Go it, Tympic," he yelled. "Rush 'em off their pins. Clatter 'em. Jump on their chests. Bowl 'em over. Good for yer. Mow 'em down. Scatter 'em, Tympic."

When his parent neatly "grassed" one of the opposing forwards, the youngster expressed approval by bawling, "Good fer yer, owd 'en," adding proudly to the spectators, "Feyther 'ad 'im sweet."

"Yes," said a hearer, "but he'll get killed before the game's finished."

"I don't care a carrot if he does," said the boy.—London Tit-Bits.

BABY WASTED TO SKELETON

"My little son, when about a year and a half old, began to have sores come out on his face. I had a physician treat him, but the sores grew worse. Then they began to come out on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest, worse than the others. Then I called another physician. Still he grew worse. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad that I had to take him to a doctor at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton, and was hardly able to walk."

"My aunt advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I sent to a drug store and got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of the Ointment and followed directions. At the end of two months the sores were all well. He has never had any more of any kind since. I can sincerely say that only for Cuticura my child would have died. I used only one cake of Cuticura Soap and about three boxes of Ointment."

"I am a nurse and my profession brings me into many different families and it is always a pleasure for me to tell my story and recommend Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, Litchfield, Conn., Oct. 23, 1909."

DRINK WATER TO CURE KIDNEYS AND RHEUMATISM

The People Do Not Drink Enough Water to Keep Healthy, Says Well-Known Authority.

"The numerous cases of kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism are mainly due to the fact that the drinking of water, nature's greatest medicine, has been neglected."

Stop loading your system with medicines and cure-alls; but get on the water wagon. If you are really sick, why, of course, take the proper medicines—plain, common vegetable treatment, which will not shatter the nerves or ruin the stomach."

To cure Rheumatism you must make the kidneys do their work; they are the filters of the blood. They must be made to strain out of the blood the waste matter and acids that cause rheumatism; the urine must be neutralized so it will no longer be a source of irritation to the bladder, and, most of all, you must keep these acids from forming in the stomach. This is the cause of stomach trouble and poor digestion. For these conditions you can do no better than take the following prescription: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, but don't forget the water. Drink plenty and often.

This valuable information and simple prescription should be posted up in each household and used at the first sign of an attack of rheumatism, backache or urinary trouble, no matter how slight.

Cranberries for Thanksgiving

A SEPARATOR FOR SORTING CRANBERRIES

HANDLING CRANBERRIES AS THEY COME FROM THE PICKERS

PICKING CRANBERRIES BY MEANS OF THE NEW MACHINES

LOADING BARRELS OF CRANBERRIES IN A REFRIGERATOR CAR

NEXT to a goodly supply of turkeys the most important requisite for a successful Thanksgiving is a plentiful measure of cranberries of just the proper tart flavor. As well have a Thanksgiving dinner without turkey as without the appetizing cranberry sauce. However the people of the United States have scant cause to worry because of this feature of their holiday menu. It has been years since a failure of the cranberry crop was reported and cranberry growers have been so increasing their productive areas that despite the increase in demand, due to the country's increase in population and other influences, there continues to be year by year a pretty lavish supply of the crimson berries, and most seasons find them available at very reasonable prices.

Cranberries, like so many of the other good things of life, are distinctively American delicacies. To be sure, cranberries grow wild in some other quarters of the globe—for instance in Europe, but it is only in the United States that they have been cultivated as an article of food. Even here the growing of cranberries is confined largely to three states—Massachusetts, New Jersey and Wisconsin. How important an industry it is may be surmised, however, from the fact that the Cape Cod district in Massachusetts, the greatest cranberry region on the globe, sends to market as many as one-third of a million barrels of cranberries in a single season.

The average person is wont to term all berry areas "patches," but cranberries do not grow in patches, but in bogs and, as may be surmised from the name, most of these tracts are located adjacent to rivers or lakes or ponds, so that they can be flooded in the late autumn and kept under water until spring. The berries grow on a vine which nestles close to the ground in a perfect tangle, and save for keeping out the weeds and battling with the insect pests, which are numerous, the cranberries do not require very much cultivation or attention until harvest time approaches in the autumn. Then the cranberry grower must look forward to a period of anxiety, a careful, serious scrutiny of the weather. He must keep close watch on the weather, for if a frost comes ere the crop is harvested it will work sad havoc unless the grower has been forewarned and flooded his bog or built great bonfires to keep up the temperature.

In years gone by the harvesting of cranberries was done solely by the hand picking method, much as raspberries or strawberries are picked, and most of the cranberry picking was done by women and children. The "Cranberry King" used to hire as many as 1,100 pickers on his great bogs on Cape Cod and the pickers, many of whom journeyed long distances, "camped out" on the bogs during the picking season. The past few years, however, has witnessed a revolution. Now almost all cranberries are picked by the aid of machines, and because it is tiresome work manipulating these machines it has come about that most of the women and children have been forced out of the industry and the task is largely in the hands of men, the more skillful of whom receive from $3 to $5 per day.

The picking machine most extensively used has the appearance of a huge wooden scoop, the bottom of which is made up of a row of metal bars, tipped with sharp prongs and set close together. In operation this scoop is shoved with some considerable force into the tangle of cranberry vines and then is drawn upward and backward with the result that the vines which have been caught slip between the metal bars but leave the berries, which are too large to pass through the openings, as do the vines, and in consequence are stripped from their stems and remain in the scoop, whence they are transferred to the tray which each picker has close at hand. An expert picker with a machine will do the work of from half a dozen to a dozen hand pickers.

The cranberries as picked on the bogs are placed in huge wooden boxes and transferred to a nearby frame building, where they are passed through a machine known as a "separator," which takes out all the leaves, twigs and other foreign matter. Then they are sorted for the elimination of any bad or worm-eaten berries and finally are placed in barrels, which are hauled away to railroad yards to be loaded into cars to the tune of from 220 to 240 barrels to the car, refrigerator cars being used exclusively. Up to the present time cranberries have been sold in bulk, but this year sees an innovation in the appearance of evaporated cranberries, for which are claimed all the advantages of evaporated peaches or apples, and in the introduction of cranberries put up in pasteboard cartons. Bearing cranberry bogs of the most desirable kind cost from $600 to $1,200 per acre, but in a bumper year a grower may get his money back the first year, and during the worst year the industry has known in a decade most of the growers made from 10 to 15 per cent. on their investment, and that, too, in spite of the fact that cranberries were so plentiful that they brought only $2 a barrel, whereas $5 to $7 a barrel is accounted an average price, and there have been years when a famine of cranberries sent the price up to $10 per barrel.

MORE THAN EVER Increased Capacity for Mental Labor Since Leaving Off Coffee.

Many former coffee drinkers who have mental work to perform, day after day, have found a better capacity and greater endurance by using Postum instead of ordinary coffee. An Illinois woman writes:

"I had drank coffee for about twenty years, and finally had what the doctor called 'coffee heart.' I was nervous and extremely despondent; had little mental or physical strength left, had kidney trouble and constipation."

"The first noticeable benefit derived from the change from coffee to Postum was the natural action of the kidneys and bowels. In two weeks my heart action was greatly improved and my nerves steady."

"Then I became less despondent, and the desire to be active again showed proof of renewed physical and mental strength."

"I am steadily gaining in physical strength and brain power. I formerly did mental work and had to give it up on account of coffee, but since using Postum I am doing hard mental labor with less fatigue than ever before."

Origin of Thanksgiving Festivities

By SAMUEL WILLIAMS

THE autumn of 1621, waned on a prosperous community. Plymouth, Mass., was both healthy and wealthy. Sickness, though it had destroyed one-half the company of pilgrims, had ceased, and the crops, as a whole, had been good, the peas alone failing. All the houses in the settlement had been put into condition and a goodly stock of furs and prepared lumber had been made ready for export to England by the next ship. The waters swarmed with fish and sea fowl were abundant. The call of the wild turkey was heard in the woods and the patter of the fleeing deer was nothing strange.

The summer was past; the harvest ended. The pilgrims decided upon a period of recreation. The governor sent out four hunters, who in one day secured game to last the colony a week. Hospitality was extended to Massasoit, of the neighboring settlement, who brought 90 people with him. The guests remained 30 days. The company engaged in rounds of amusements, in which military drills and religious services formed a part. Thus, heartily and loyally, was inaugurated the great New England festival of Thanksgiving. For two centuries it has continued to be observed, at first mostly in the eastern states, but it has now become national, its annual return finding a welcome from boundary to boundary, both at top and bottom and either extremity of the nation.

Thanksgiving day is peculiarly an American custom, though there are some writers who claim that it is not possible to determine the date of the first observance. John A. Goodwin, in his historical review, "The Pilgrim Republic," is positive, however, that the first celebration occurred in the fall of 1621, this being followed in 1623 by the first Thanksgiving proclamation, by the governor of Massachusetts. In 1630 there arrived at Plymouth 14 vessels, bringing with them 880 colonists, making the number nearly 1,200 instead of a mere 300. On July 8, 1630, another Thanksgiving was held in acknowledgment for this accession to the ranks of the colonists. The Dutch governors of the New

THE GUESTS REMAINED THIRTY DAYS

Netherlands also appointed different dates for public thanksgiving, from time to time, and in some historical works there is record of a dispute as to which of these colonies deserved the credit for having first inaugurated the day. Most of the best founded historians, however, give the credit to the New England states.

The Dutch governors of New Netherlands appointed occasional days of thanksgiving in 1644, 1645, 1655 and 1664, and the English governors followed their example in 1755 and 1760, and the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States in its prayer book, ratified in 1789, recommends for Thanksgiving day the first Thursday in November, unless some other day be appointed by the civil authorities. There were also occasional recommendations by other religious bodies, but no regular annual recommendation by the governor of New York before 1817. The struggle of the colonies for independence marks the beginning of general observances of days of thanksgiving in this country. The congress of 1777, the one which prepared the articles of confederation for adoption by the colonies, adopted a resolution setting apart the eighteenth day of December, 1777, to be observed as a day of solemn thanksgiving and praise throughout the United States.

Washington, during his administration, issued two thanksgiving proclamations, one in 1789 and the other in 1795, just after the suppression of the "Whisky rebellion," which had threatened the peace of the country, and President Madison issued one upon the declaration of peace in 1815. However, in the early years of the nation the rule was for the colonial custom to be followed and the proclamation made emanated from the governors. The western states, largely people from New England or New York, early followed the lead of these portions of the country. As we have seen, the annual recommendation tion by the governors of New York began in 1817. From that time the observance gradually crept southward and westward, and in 1835 Governor Johnson of Virginia adopted it, and though in 1857 Governor Wise of Virginia declined to make the proclamation on the ground that he was unauthorized to interfere in religious matters, in 1858 a Thanksgiving day was proclaimed in eight of the southern states.

Decorative Conceits and Favors For the Thanksgiving Festivities

The pious, hard-driven, worn-out, but thankful Puritans who sat down at their tables one November, a few centuries ago, and made the first Thanksgiving Day, never knew to what lengths they were to drive the ingenuity of their poor descendants. But it wasn't their fault after all, that the preparer of the Thanksgiving feast today has to attend just as much to the turkey's surroundings as to the turkey itself. It was good enough for them to have a well-stocked larder from which could come the turkey, the celery, the pumpkin pie, the cranberries and all the other goodies which history puts down to their credit. Even the comparatively recent New Englanders were content with all these as long as they looked tempting and tasted good. But today, even the important fowl itself is hardly more important than the ribbons, the candies, the favors, the adornments of all kinds, which must appear on the Thanksgiving table.

"Don't bother about having too much to eat," an up-to-date daughter was heard to say to her New England mother the other day. "I want plenty of room for the ribbons and the candy boxes."

It's the same way with other daughters of an esthetic turn of mind, rather than a practical one, and it looks as if their ambitions to "make things look pretty" may be realized this year, for there is a goodly array of Thanksgiving favors and table decorations of all kinds.

Of course the turkey reigns supreme, even if it is in paper, and is seen in all sizes, all kinds, roasted to a beautiful dark brown as the cook-book says, or standing important and majestic with its big fan-shaped feather tail high in the air. In most cases the favor turkey is meant for candy, but certain new china turkeys are mustard cups.

The pumpkin is next in importance and is seen in many of the novelties. There are large paper pumpkins for centerpieces and all sorts of small

The day had thus naturally grown to be a national institution of almost universal observance, when the Civil war brought to sudden ripeness this along with many other tendencies, and President Lincoln put upon it the seal of his official proclamation. President Lincoln's first proclamation was in 1863, on account of the first important victory of the national arms. He issued a similar recommendation in 1863.

Decorative Conceits and Favors For the Thanksgiving Festivities

ones in papier mache or tissue paper which are candy boxes. Fruits and vegetables of all kinds seem to be suggestive of the season of feasting, and many good imitations are found among the candy box collections. Goblinsque little men are made of paper fruits and fixed up to have a very grotesque appearance, and funny little figures are made of peanuts, and mounted on cards. Nuts are tied up in ribbons and are found to be prize-packages for the receiver, for in them are neatly packed little stick-plums, whistles, etc., all carefully concealed within the paper shells.

The place cards allow of a great many new designs, and an especially new feature among these is some small mirrors. The chrysanthemum is the leading flower among the paper bowers, and those in yellow or orange seem to be the most desired shades. Other imitations which are especially "life-like" are the painted piece of the pumpkin pie, the tin of Boston baked beans, the plum pudding and the ear of corn.

LENT INSPIRATION.

"I am gratified," said the first prominent citizen, "to observe the undercurrent of joy in the Thanksgiving proclamation of the governor. Hitherto the proclamations have been along the old cut and dried, stilted forms; but in this instance there is a certain tone of joyousness, of thankfulness, of pure gratefulness that is really inspiring."

"Yes," agrees the second prominent citizen, "but it's no wonder the governor felt good when he wrote that proclamation."

"No. He has started on what seems destined to be a good administration, already there is talk of promoting him to some higher office in the gift of the people."

"And besides," interrupts the second man, "the governor owns one of the largest turkey farms in the state."

Indeed, the first point we have all to determine is not how free we are, but what kind of creatures we are. It is of small importance to any of us whether we get liberty; but of the greatest that we deserve it. "Pins and Needles."

After being for a long time in a constrained attitude a peculiar numbness and pricking is often felt in the arm, leg or foot. This is caused by some interruption to the circulation and can usually be removed by rubbing or exercise.

The reason of the sensation, which is decidedly uncomfortable while it lasts, is that pressure for a certain length of time deadens the sensibility of a nerve. When this pressure is suddenly removed (as straightening out the leg after sitting with it doubled underneath the body) sensibility gradually returns to the nerve, and as each nerve-fiber composing the trunk regains its normal condition of sensibility a pricking sensation is felt, and these successive prickings from the successive awakenings of the numerous fibers have not inaptly been called "pins and needles."

Preserve All Things.

Words are like coral, the dead houses of once living, fresh ideas. In them are preserved the history, romance and adventure of the human mind. They are full of old customs, imaginative conceits and tricky notions.

TOLSTOI IS LOCATED

COUNT IS DISCOVERED IN MONASTERY AFTER RENOUNCING THE WORLD.

WIFE TRIES TO END LIFE

Novelist's Disappearance and Desertion of the Countess and Their Nine Children is Attributed by Many to His Failing Mentality.

St. Petersburg.—In the old monastery of Kozelsk, in the province of Kaluga, Count Leo Tolstoi, the social reformer and novelist, who has renounced the world and who disappeared several days ago, was found Saturday by a searching party.

Simultaneously with the finding of the count, his wife, overcome by the desertion of her husband, is reported to have twice attempted suicide by drowning herself through a hole in the ice. She is in a state of collapse, and may not recover.

The flight of the count has made a painful impression. That he should desire to spend the evening of his days in solitude surprises no one acquainted with his career, but that he should deliberately desert the mother of his nine children is difficult of belief even in the light of his well-known eccentricities of character.

The suggestion of a falling mentality is accepted by many in explanation of the count's sudden action.

TRAIN HITS CAR; SIX DEAD

Michigan Central Express Crashes Into Heavily Loaded Street Coach at a Kalamazoo Crossing.

Kalamazoo, Mich.—Six persons were killed Saturday night when the Michigan Central express struck a Main street car. Twenty-six other persons were injured, some fatally.

Three bodies were removed from the pilot of the freight engine so badly mutilated that recognition is impossible.

The names of the known dead are: Ward Abbott, James Breese, Hazel Hart, Miss Bertha Hensler, Harry Holtz and William Shaffer.

All of the dead and injured with one exception lived in Kalamazoo and were passengers on the street car.

ALEXANDER S. CLAY IS DEAD

United States Senator From Georgia Expires Suddenly From Cancer of the Stomach.

Atlanta, Ga.—United States Senator Alexander Stephens Clay died suddenly in the Atlanta cantinarian, to which he was taken ten days ago in the hope of that special treatment might prolong his life.

The cause of death is given as dilation of the heart.

Senator Clay has been in ill health for a long time, the physicians saying that he suffered from acute indigestion. It is generally understood, however, that his real ailment was cancer of the stomach.

YOUNG FOR DOLLIVER'S SEAT

Gov. Carroll Appoints Des Moines Editor as United States Senator From Iowa.

Des Moines, Ia.—Gov. B. F. Carroll has appointed Lafayette Young, editor of the Des Moines Capital, as United States senator from Iowa to succeed the late Jonathan P. Dolliver.

Senator Young will serve until the next legislature meets, on January 8. It will be the duty of that legislature to elect a senator to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Dolliver, which ends in 1913.

Mr. Young was born in Iowa in 1848. Most of his life he has devoted to the newspaper profession.

FIND WIRES UNDER MAINE

Divers Discover High Tension Conductors of Electricity Beneath Battleship in Havana Harbor.

Havana, Cuba.—A large quantity of insulated copper wire, such as is used for electrical currents of high tension, has been found by divers under and about the hull of the Maine.

The wire now lies on board the vessel Manuella, presumably to be examined by authorized experts in due course.

Two Shot in Mexican Riot

Gaudalajara, Mex.—Carlos B. Carothers a real estate dealer, shot and killed Jesus Loza, a fourteen-year-old Mexican boy, and wounded Prudencio Chaves, a gendarme, in defending his home against a riotous attack by Mexicans Saturday. Carothers surrendered to the authorities and was lodged in the state penitentiary.

Blow to Women in Arizona

Phoenix, Ariz.—Woman's suffrage received a blow when the constitutional convention Friday defeated the Connolly proposition to submit the question to a referendum vote.

Second Posse After Outlaw

Lexington, Ky.—Jake Noble, who has intrenched himself in the mountains to resist arrest for murder, will have a still larger army to face, a second posse of fearless men started Friday to get him, dead or alive.

RENEW WAR ON HOUSE RULES

MANY SUPPORT MOVE TO CURB SPEAKER'S POWER.

Harmony Is in Peril If Senior Members of Committees Do Not Get Chairmanships.

Washington.—It is anticipated that when the house of representatives meets next month that the question of taking away the speaker's power to appoint the committees will be taken up and the matter fought to a finish.

This time it is not unlikely that the movement will receive the support of Speaker Cannon and his allies, inasmuch as the next assignments will be made by the Democrats.

Interviews with Representatives Murdock of Kansas and Norris of Nebraska indicate that they intend to lose no time in reopening the fight waged by insurgent Republicans last session which reformed the rules and deposed Speaker Cannon.

Some members of the house believe that if the power to appoint committees is taken away from the Democratic speaker and handed over to the house membership all hope of harmony in the Democratic ranks may be abandoned.

On the other hand it is pointed out that harmony also would suffer from a maintenance of the seniority rule, as that rule would give to the south the chairmanships of all of the great committees and leave unrecognized the new Democratic membership from northern and western states.

Under the seniority rule the chairmanship of the committee on ways and means, the most important of all, would go to Underwood of Alabama, unless Champ Clark of Missouri, who is now the ranking minority leader, should fail to capture the speakership.

LYNCH INQUIRY IS BEGUN

Governor of Texas, at Request of Secretary Knox, Starts Probe Into Execution of Rodriguez

San Antonio, Tex.—A dispatch from Eagle Pass, Tex., says that rioting by Mexicans took place across the river at Ciudad Porfirio Diaz Friday. The residences of several Americans were stoned, including that of United States Consul Luther Ellsworth. No one was injured.

Washington.—Complying with a request made by Secretary of State Knox, an inquiry was begun Friday by Governor Campbell of Texas into the lynching of Antonio Rodriguez at Rock Springs November 3.

Word to this effect was received at the state department, and until the result of the inquiry is learned definite reply will not be given to the request of the Mexican government by Ambassador De La Barra that official explanation be made of the incident. It is believed here that the Mexican government will be content with this course and will do its utmost to prevent further hostile demonstrations against Americans.

Fifty-one men are in jail in Mexico City for acts of vandalism during the riots, according to information received by the state department from United States Ambassador Wilson. The ambassador says the streets are being patrolled and he does not expect further acts of violence. The Mexican authorities have furnished ample protection for the American embassy.

Mexico City, Mex.—To guard against a possible repetition of the anti-American riots, the government Friday issued orders forbidding bull fights next Sunday. Quiet prevails in this city.

Special dispatches from Gaudalajara confirm reports of violence by a mob, actuated by the same unfriendliness toward Americans responsible for the demonstrations here. At Gaudalajara a mob of students and others started for the American consulate, crying "Death to the gringos!"

The police prevented the rioters from reaching the consulate building, but after listening to inflammatory speeches the crowd vented its wrath on American-owned property. It

CHINESE MOB BURNS CHURCH

Gentry Fails Rioters in Attempt to Slay Presbyterian Missionaries Who Flee.

Hongkong.—Mall advices from Linchou, in Kwang-Su province, report that rioters have burned and demolished numerous buildings there, including the American Presbyterian church, hospital and college, and proceeded to Tsol Yuen Po, intending to slay the missionaries. The gentry, however, assisted the latter to escape in boats to Canton.

Three battalions have left Canton to quell the disturbances. The British gunboat Sandpiper is also proceeding thither. The mob was enraged at officials numbering their houses, believing this was an excuse to impose taxation.

Saginaw Publisher Is Dead

Saginaw, Mich.—Charles H. Peters, sixty-two years old, publisher and founder of the Saginaw Evening News, dropped dead of apoplexy Saturday. He was one of the youngest drummer boys in the Union war.

James F. Hunnewell Is Dead

Boston.—The death of James Frothingham Hunnewell, the author, was announced Sunday. Mr. Hunnewell was born in Charlestown in 1830. He wrote many books, largely of a historical nature.

BLOWS UP WARSHIP

AVIATOR HURLS BOMBS AT VESSEL AND SOON WRECKS IT.

WAR EXPERTS ON THE SCENE

Thrilling Demonstration Is Given at Baltimore of What May Be Expected From Air Craft in Time of War.

Baltimore, Md.—An aviator dropped bombs upon the deck of a battleship, as he circled in the air far above it and blew the water craft almost to pieces.

One bomb went down the aft funnel exploding in the boiler-room and completely wrecking the machinery of the ship, beside ripping a hole in the bottom. Another bomb struck the deck near the forward turret and dismanled two 12-inch guns and killed every man in their crew. A third landed near the conning tower and put the ship's steering gear out of commission.

All this happened "constructively" and at the aviation meet where a thrilling demonstration of what airships may be expected to do in time of war was given by several of the aviators. Latham was the most successful, scoring several hits on the "battleship," which was outlined on the grass. He fired six shots in all and scored 15 points.

Drexel in his Blériot followed Latham in the bomb-throwing contest. His first shot hit the deck. He was flying fast. Drexel's second shot was a fine hit. His sixth bomb struck the deck. His official score was given as 6. He made no bull's eyes.

What the crew of the battleship could have done to the aviator while he hovered 200 feet above them was not demonstrated.

DEITZ GIVES $40,000 BAIL

He Is Released But Rearrested on Charge of Attempting to Shoot Man in 1904.

Hayward, Wis.—Attorneys Zabel and Schultz, head of the Deitz defense committee, arrived here Monday from Eau Claire, where they received Judge Wickham's approval of the bonds of $40,000.

The bond was approved and recorded after which procedure Deitz was notified that for a time at least he was again a free man. His wife and Clarence were overjoyed and quickly bringing his overcoat, Clarence assisted his father to put it on and stepped out on the porch of the jail. However, his period of freedom was very short. Barely had the overcoat been placed on him, when Sheriff Madden read a warrant to him for the alleged attempted shooting of Patrick McGin on May 8, 1904, and once more the famous Cameron Dam defender was placed behind the bars.

BLAST IN MINE KILLS FIVE

Eighteen Are Hurt in Explosion at Panama (Ill.) Colliery—Fifty Workers Are Rescued.

Hillsboro, Ill.—Five miners were killed and 18 were injured in an explosion in the Shoal Creek Coal company's mine at Panama, a mining town in the southern part of Montgomery county Friday.

Fifty men who were working in the section of the mine in which the explosion occurred were rescued, according to the mine managers. Altogether, 350 men were underground at the time, but 300 of them were in no danger.

The cause of the explosion is not known. The dead and injured were burned by the flames of the explosion. The mine was not set on fire.

G. A. Murray, chief clerk in the mine offices, denied the report that 50 men still were in the mine. Owing to the mutilation of the bodies, the dead have not been identified.

Illinois Riches Grow

Springfield, Ill.—The aggregate value of all classes of property in the state of Illinois, as fixed by the state board of equalization Saturday, is $6,599,105,928. This is an increase of $123,160,578 over the aggregate value one year ago.

Found Guilty of Murder

La Crosse, Wis.—Matt Ruegen, who shot and killed John H. Studier, June 17, following a dispute over wages, was found guilty of murder in the first degree Saturday.

SAVINGS ARE GAINING FAST

REPORT SHOWS DEPOSITS INCREASE MILLION A DAY.

Aggregate of Accumulations for Last Fiscal Year Passes the Four Billion Mark.

Washington.—Nine million Americans in moderate circumstances—the kind of people who keep savings bank accounts—saved an average of $24.77 each during the current year in spite of the high tariff and the increased cost of living.

These facts became public through the publication of a report by Comptroller of the Currency Murray. They show beyond cavil that the country is prospering, and that a share of that prosperity—whether a fair share or not—is going to places where it will do the most good.

Deposits in the 1,759 savings banks during the year increased to more than $4,000,000,000. The average depositor's account was $445.22, just $24.77 above the average of the year before. There are 300,000 more savings bank depositors than there were a year ago, and the total of the deposits has swelled $357,000,000 during the year. These statistics, compiled in the treasury for the second time in the history of American banking, include also the reports from 7,145 national banks and 15,948 state and private banks.

State banking superintendents co-operated with the national bank system to make what is practically a uniform report of banking conditions in the country.

Banking capital employed in the United States increased $80,000,000 during the year. Individual deposits in all the banks increased more than $1,240,000,000, and the aggregate assets increased $1,355,000,000.

The banks, however, are holding about $31,000,000 less in cash than they did in 1909.

GIVES HIS LIFE FOR OTHERS

Engineer Turns Over His Oxygen Helmet That Mine Victims May Reach Surface.

Delagua, Col.—The bodies of 35 men were found Wednesday in the north entry of the Victor American Fuel company, where the explosion originated. They were brought out slowly over the debris, but not all were identified.

Willis Evans, engineer of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company at Primero, gave his life in the rescue of four miners taken out alive. He came to Delagua with the rescue car of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company.

The rescuers worked their way along the entry and heard the faint tapping of a pick on solid rock, the wireless call of the miner. They attacked the fallen mass of rock that blocked the entry with renewed hope. When they tore through the cave they found four Slav miners alive and unhurt. They were 2,600 feet from the surface, and the passages were filled with after-damp. The rescuers feared to take the imprisoned men to the surface without helmets, and without a moment's hesitation Evans and one of the other rescuers took off their helmets and gave them to two of the rescued men and waited for the return of the rescue party.

When the rescuers returned Evans had disappeared. The rescue party supposed he had followed them out without a helmet and went out without searching for him. They discovered he had not reached the surface and another party was sent in after him.

Convict Stabs Officials

Concorn, N. H.—Armed with a knife which he had wrested from a "trustee" John Doe, a life convict in the state prison here, Friday attacked two prison officials, wounding one probably fatally and the other slightly.

The victims are Deputy Warden Frank R. Bailey, whose condition is critical, and Dr. Ralph E. Gallinger, prison physician and son of Senator Jacob H. Gallinger.

Noted Vaudeville Man Dead

Chicago.—Charles E. Kohl, one of the most conspicuous figures in American vaudeville management, and one of the men accredited with raising that form of entertainment to its present plane, died at his summer residence in Oconomowoc, Wis., Saturday.

Have you weak heart, dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals? Or do you experience pain over the heart, shortness of breath on going up stairs and the many distressing symptoms which indicate poor circulation and bad blood? A heart tonic, blood and body-builder that has stood the test of over 40 years of cures is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

The heart becomes regular as clock-work. The red blood corpuscles are increased in number—and the nerves in turn are well fed. The arteries are filled with good rich blood. That is why nervous debility, irritability, fainting spells, disappear and are overcome by this alternative extract of medicinal roots put up by Dr. Pierce without the use of alcohol.

COLON GREETED TAFT

PRESIDENT IS WELCOMED IN HARBOR BY RECEPTION COMMITTEE.

CRUISER FIRES A SALUTE

Executive Will Spend Four Days on Isthmus and Note the Progress Made in Canal Construction.

Colon, Panama.—President Taft arrived here Monday on the cruiser Tennessee to inspect the canal work.

Lieutenant Colonel Goethals and the others of the receiving party were waiting on the tug Cristobal, which approached the Tennessee as soon as the latter hove in sight.

When the president's vessel reached her anchorage the tug drew alongside and the receiving party went aboard and welcomed the president. Mr. Taft and his party boarded the tug and came aboard. As the president left the Tennessee a salute was fired.

President Taft plans to be here four days. The visit is one of business, and it is expected his time will be well occupied with issues involved in the construction of the Panama canal.

The president did not delay here long. Shortly after his arrival he boarded a train for Culebra, the site of the big Culebra cut.

A special train had been prepared for the president. He was accompanied to Culebra by Lieutenant Colonel Goethals and the other members of the canal commission.

The voyage of the Taft party was uneventful. En route home President Taft will stop at Guantanamo, Cuba, for a brief time, to inspect the American naval base there.

FLIES FROM SHIP TO LAND

Aviator Ely Makes Successful Flight From Deck of War Vessel at Sea.

Norfolk, Va.—Eugene Ely flew from the deck of the U. S. scout cruiser Birmingham to land Monday, making a new epoch in the progress of aeronautics, for his was the first flight attempted from a ship at sea.

Ely's trip nearly ended in disaster, however, for when his machine cleared the cruiser's deck it dipped so that one wing struck the water. The shock broke a propeller blade, but Ely succeeded in getting clear and continued his flight.

The crippled condition of his biplane made a long trip impossible and the aviator headed for the nearest point of land, Wolloughby Spit, a narrow, sandy point reaching out into Chesapeake bay. He alighted on the beach only a few feet above the water line.

Ely started his daring attempt when the Birmingham was in Chesapeake Bay about twelve miles from the Norfolk navy yard, which was his objective point.

MEAT PACKERS SCORE POINT

New Jersey Appellate Court Rules Concerns Need Not Submit Book to Grand Jury.

Trenton, N. J.—The Chicago meat packers won an important point Monday in their defense against the prosecution now in progress in this state.

The state court of errors and appeals reversed the decision of Supreme Court Justice Swayne directing the National Packing company and the other big packing concerns to produce their books before the Hudson county grand jury.

The evidence expected from these books, it is believed, was one of the main reliances of Prosecutor Garvin in making out a case against the beef men on the charge of conspiracy to control prices.

Another case against the packing concerns for the dissolution of the National Packing Company is now in the state supreme court.

MANY RIOTERS SHOT DOWN

Nicaragua Troops Kill or Wound 75 Liberals Holding Forbidden Political Meeting.

San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua.—More than 75 persons were killed or wounded in a street battle between the government troops and the Liberals at Leon Monday.

The Liberals, disregarding the government's orders prohibiting their holding public meeting on the streets, gathered in a park and their leaders began delivering speeches against the government.

The police attempted to disperse the crowd, but were quickly overcome. The troops were then called out and were compelled to fire many rounds into the mob before the crowd could be dispersed. The situation is critical and further trouble is anticipated.

German Spy Placed Under Bond. London, England.—Lieut. Siegfried Helm, the German army officer who was arrested charged with having made sketches of the fortifications of Portsmouth harbor, pleaded guilty Monday and was placed under $1,250 bonds not to repeat the offense.

4,000 Quit Express Strike. New York.—Four thousand striking expressmen went back to work Monday wearing union buttons conspicuously. Slowly the great congestion of express packages was relieved.

Washington.—A majority of approximately 55 in the house of representatives and a gain of at least eight seats in the senate are the results obtained by the Democrats at the election.

Indiana, Maine, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Montana and West Virginia are the states which have elected Democratic legislatures that will choose successors to Republican senators. The margin on joint ballot in the Indiana legislature will not be great, but it is sufficient to insure the election of John W. Kern as successor to Senator Beveridge.

Champ Clark, representative from Missouri and present minority leader in the house, is an avowed candidate for speaker of the Sixty-second congress, and it is almost certain he will be elected to that position with very little if any serious opposition.

In the contests for state offices in many of the states the Democrats were as successful as they were in the congressional field. In some instances states which were formerly counted on as strongly Republican, reversed the old order and chose Democratic officials.

In New York John A. Dix, the Democratic candidate, was elected over Stimson, Roosevelt's candidate, by a majority of 65,000.

In Massachusetts Eugene N. Foss, Democrat, was elected governor after a hotly-contested campaign.

New Jersey stepped into the Democratic column by electing as governor, Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton university.

Ohio re-elected Judson Harmon by 60,000; Connecticut, which was Republican in 1908 by 44,660, elected Silmon E. Baldwin by 3,600; Massachusetts, which was Republican in 1908 by 110,000, chose E. N. Foss by 34,000; Colorado elected John F. Shafroth, Democrat, by 15,000; Iowa went Republican by a majority of 15,000.

Helpless With Kidney Trouble But Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

M. C. Walker, 933 Grand Ave., Connersville, Ind., says: "For ten years I suffered from kidney complaint and was on the verge of Bright's disease. I was often so helpless I could not move and neighbors two blocks away heard me scream with pain. I had no control over the kidney secretions and the pain in my back was almost unbearable. After several physicians had failed to help me, I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and was soon relieved. I have had no return of kidney trouble in five years."

Looking After the Eggs.

Lady Betty, who is 4 years old and never misses a trick, was taken the other evening to a restaurant for her supper, and with all the importance and sprightly dignity of her years calmly ordered poached eggs on toast.

While the little family group was awaiting its service the "kiddie" amused herself by looking out of the window, pressing against a screen to get a closer view of something below.

She was warned by her mother that the screen might give way and let her fall to the sidewalk, perhaps injuring her terribly. She drew away, thought a minute, and then said naively: "Would I fall if the screen went out?"

"You certainly would," was her mother's reply. "And would I get awful hurt?" "Very likely." "Then what would the man do with the eggs?"

PUTS STOMACHS IN ORDER.

No Indigestion, Gas, Sourness or Dyspepsia Five Minutes After Taking a Little Diapiesin.

There should not be a case of indigestion, dyspepsia or gastritis here if readers who are subject to stomach trouble knew the tremendous anti-ferment and digestive virtue contained in Diapiesin. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest fuss or discomfort, and relieve the sourness, acid stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all foul, nauseous odors from the breath.

If your stomach is sour and full of gas, or your food doesn't digest, or your meal doesn't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent case of Pope's Diapiesin from any druggist here in town, and make life worth living. Absolute relief from stomach misery and perfect digestion of anything you eat is sure to follow five minutes after, and besides, one fifty-cent case is sufficient to cure a whole family of such trouble.

Surely, a harmless, inexpensive preparation like Pope's Diapiesin, which will always either at daytime or during night, relieve your sick, sour, gassy, upset stomach and digest your meals, is about as handy and valuable a thing as you could have in the house.

Resinol In Three Weeks Does What Other Remedies Failed to Do In Four Months.

My baby's face was like a raw and bleeding piece of meat. I was at my wits' ends what to do. Medicine from three physicians and ointment recommended seemed to make the Eczema worse. Then another mother spoke of Resinol, which I procured at once—remember I had no more faith in it than in all the rest I had tried—but I thought it would be wasting only 50c more. Never did I spend 50c to better advantage, for the first and second days I noticed a remarkable change, and now at the end of the third week I have my pretty blue-eyed, rosy cheeked, cooling baby well again. I am safe in saying he is perfectly cured and the cure was surely something remarkable. Your Soap and Ointment did in three weeks what everything else I tried failed to do in four months. My baby was positively disfigured, now his complexion is all right again.

Mrs. H. F. Clemmer, Sunbury, Pa.

Somewhat Indignant.

The two extra specialists had pounded and sounded him, and felt of his pulse and tapped his frame till he could only lie in a cold perspiration of fear.

"Undoubtedly it's a case of appendicitis!" said specialist No. 1, gravely.

"Undoubtedly!" assented specialist No. 2.

"But would he be able to stand an operation?" pondered No. 1.

"Ah, would he?" echoed No. 2.

They dug him in the ribs again, and he squealed.

"Ah," remarked No. 1, "I think we ought to let him get a bit stronger before we cut into him."

"Confound your palaver!" gasped the patient, starting up. "What do you take me for—a cheese?"

Cheap Excursion to California.

On Thursday, Dec. 8th, James Porter of the Porter Land Co., will take a trainload of people to the Early Fruit Lands of Kern County, in the San Joaquin Valley of California. This is a splendid chance for you to see the western wonderlands and to get a rich fruit farm that will produce from $500 to $1,000 an acre each year. Write us or come and see us and let us arrange for your trip to California, on one of our cheap excursions. If you cannot go just now, let us select a choice farm for you and hold it for three months for your inspection.

Think of it: no snow, no winters. The balmy delightful climate, the jovial thrifty people you will have for neighbors, the wealth the land will bring you—these are the things that, once investigated, will make you a California fruit farmer—a man of wealth and influence. Write for our new booklet "Early Fruit Lands" and full particulars regarding our cheap excursion of Dec. 8th, to land seekers. Porter Land Co., Marquette Bldg., Chicago, Illinois.

Not Even Mother.

Little Bob was much distressed because the birthdays of his sister Adelaide and his baby brother were going to arrive before his did.

"All the birthdays before mine," he mourned. "Couldn't you make mine come first, muvver?"

"No," interposed Adelaide, decisively, "nobody can change your birthday—not even mother!"

Women who are suffering with some form of female illness should consider this.

As such evidence read these two unsolicited testimonial letters. We guarantee they are genuine and honest statements of facts.

Cresson, Pa.—"Five years ago I had a bad fall, and hurt myself inwardly. I was under a doctor's care for nine weeks, and when I stopped I grew worse again. I sent for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it as directed, and now I am a stout, hearty woman."—Mrs. Ella E. Alkey, Cresson, Pa.

Baird, Wash.—"A year ago I was sick with kidney and bladder troubles and female weakness. The doctors gave me up. All they could do was to just let me go as easily as possible. I was advised by friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. I am completely cured of my ills, and I am nearly sixty years old."—Mrs. Sarah Leighton, Baird, Wash.

Evidence like the above is abundant showing that the derangements of the female organism which breed all kinds of miserable feelings and which ordinary practice does not cure, are the very disorders that give way to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are afflicted with similar troubles, after reading two such letters as the above, should be encouraged to try this wonderfully helpful remedy.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Geo. Olmstead, former section boss, has resigned his position here to go to Prairie View where he will hold the same position.

A. E. Wentz has moved from his former location to the Schramm building. He left Tuesday for Springfield, O., where he will remain for the present.

Mr. Dicks came home from southern Illinois where he has been hunting for a few days and brought with him all the ducks he could carry. He states that ducks are as thick as mosquitoes.

David Sugar and family left Sunday morning for Philadelphia, Pa., where they will make their future home. Mr. Sugar has been located in Lake Villa for 26 years. He will be engaged as sole manager in the United States for a calico firm which is located in London.

Upon his return here Tuesday M. J. Sugar received two black eyes that look like diamonds. The fight took place at the depot waiting room. The other party, of course, wore glasses and was afraid to take them off as that was his only handicap or they might both have come home with bruises of the same kind. The assailant was a party from Grayslake who is quite a challenger.

Saves an Iowa Man's Life.

The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Iowa, when, after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave him up. Then was shown the marvelous curative power of Electric Bitters. For, after eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this matchless medicine completely cured him. Its positively guaranteed for stomach, liver or kidney troubles and never disappoints. Only 50c. at J. H. Swans.

Bread and Butter for Babies. There is no place in which bread and butter can be so beneficial or poisonous as in the nursery. The worst thing you can give a young baby under a year old is bread. But, later on, bread becomes useful. It should never be given new to a child at any age, but stale bread or toast, or bread baked crisp is excellent for children. We really want more crisp foods now a days, and if this fact was taken to heart the next generation would suffer less from decayed teeth and weak digestion.

Not Sorry for Blunder.

"If my friends hadn't blundered in thinking I was a doomed victim of consumption, I might not be alive now," writes D. T. Sanders, of Horrodsburg, Ky., "but for years they saw every attempt to cure a lung-racking cough fail. At last I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. The effect was wonderful. Life-saver is an unrivaled remedy for coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, hemorrhages, whooping cough or weak lungs. 50c. $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by J. H. Swan.
